Psalm 114
"When Israel by God’s address"

Text William Kethe
Harmonised by David Peebles

1. When Israel by God’s address, from Pharaoh’s land was bent, And
2. The sea it saw, and suddenly, as all amazed did see: The
3. What ailed thee, see, as all amazed so suddenly to flee? Ye

Jacob’s house the strangers left, and in the same train went:
roaring streams of Jordan’s flood recoiled backwardly.
rolling waves of Jordan’s flood, why ran ye backwardly?

In Judah, God his glory showed, his holiness most bright.
As rams afraid the mountains skipped, their strength did them for sake:
Why shook ye hills as rams afraid? Why did you strength so shake?

So did the Israelites declare his kingdom, pow’r and might.
And as the silly trembling lambs, their tops did beat and shake.
Why did your tops as trembling lambs, for fear quiver and quake?
