Psalm 129

4. ⁶All such men shall be like the grass that growth
Upon the walls,
or tops of houses most high,
Which suddenly,
or one beware, withereth:
So that no fruit on such herbs can gathered be.

5. Thever man saw that any mower mowed Such grass as that, or thereof his hand did fill:

Much less that he, which gleaneth of that is sowed, Under his arm bear something his house until.82

8Nor yet that he
 that passeth by that way,
 Sayeth to the reapers,
 God save you, or God speed.
 No, no man doth wish them good luck, I say,
 Or pray that God would for their work grant them mead.
